DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1- 9, 13,14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As per claim 1, it is indefinite as to what is cascaded.

As per claim 13, it is also indefinite as to what the Miller coupling is.

Further, the word "compliment" in the claims should be changed to --complement--.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1,2,10,12-18,21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Taborn et al. (5,491,653).

Taborn et al. discloses in figure 5 a cascaded domino 4:2 reducer including a first 3:2 reducer and a second 3:2 reducer directly connected to the first 3:2 reducer without static stages in between, and the 3:2 reducer including a differential XOR gate (figure 3A) and differential carry generate gate (figure 3B) as claimed.

5. Claims 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Winters et al. (6,466,960).

Winters et al. discloses in figures 1 and 3, a circuit having three true inputs and three complement inputs (A,B,C) a differential XOR gate (figure 3B) and a differential carry generated gate (figure 3A) as claimed.

6. Claims 1,2 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winters et al. (6,466,960).

It is noted that Winters et al. does not teach a 4:2 reducer. However, Winters et al. discloses on col.1, lines 35-45, that it is known to implement a 4:2 reducer by cascading two 3:2 reducer as claimed. Thus, it would have been an obvious application to employ two 3:2 reducer as taught by Winters et al. to implement a 4:2 reducer in order to combine four input in a reduced time.

7. Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Claims 3-9 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
